IS YOUR BOY WORTH MORE THAN A FISH?

It is time YOU are asking This Question.

We clip the following from the Noblesville (Ind.) Daily Ledger of June 20th:

"THE UNCHANGING LAW."

"Rev. E. D. Barnes preached to a large audience at the Christian Church Sunday night on 'The Unchanging Law.' During the course of his remarks he said:

"It looks like we were spending more money to protect fish than men."

It seems to be easier to secure evidence against men under the cover of darkness who violate the fish law than it is against law breaking saloon keepers in the open broad daylight. I have great admiration for the State that protects its fish as if the latter were the pioneers of civilization but we need something to show some diligence to protect men and boys from the snares that are vicious and vile. Why is it so easy to get evidence and secure conviction, if conviction were demanded, when the fish laws are violated and so difficult to convict when violations of the temperance laws are so notorious? Have conditions come to this, that the life of a fish is worth more than the life of a man?"

"Very often the secular papers of the country are sander on moral issues than the pulpit itself. Take the Indianapolis News for example. Its treatment of moral themes is as rational and searching as the highest demands of the pulpit could expect. Papers of that kind supplement the work of the pulpit and are a powerful agency for advancing the cause of God. It is a hopeful sign of the times when the great dailies are doing the very work we expect the pulpit to do and which the pulpit so often fails to do. The fight against materialism, infidelity, money-getting and vice in varied forms by many of our leading dailies is worthy of our highest commendation and it is not a discredit to any preacher now as formerly for him to say that he gets his text from the Bible and his sermon from the newspaper. As long as papers like the News are as loyal and as aggressive to the great moral issues of the times, the pulpit can afford to rely upon those strong editorials for inspiration and encouragement as it can rely upon the journals wholly devoted to religious issues, and oftentimes there is an aggressiveness and a bugle call to advance found in the secular journals that is not found in the religious papers."

OLD STORY

Told Over Again by the Republican Party.

Tip for Congress to Investigate Southern Elections.

It is the same old platform, same old promises, same old claims, same old things of the same old Republican party. Nothing new excepting the sop to the negro. Probably no one of the many bombastic planks in the platform caused more interest among Democrats in Washington than that demanding an investigation by Congress of the election laws of the Southern States and the proposition to cut down congressional representation. The idea is exactly the same as that advocated by Representative Crumpacker during the last three Congresses. He has several times introduced a resolution calling upon the Speaker to appoint a select committee which was to visit the States in question and have power to subpoena witnesses, examine them under oath and send for all evidence necessary for a full investigation. From the very beginning Crumpacker has been turned down on his position, the House leaders from Speaker Cannon down agreeing that the present is no time for dragging into Congress partisan sectional legislation directed against the Southern States only second to the outrageous Force Bill defeated by Senator Gorman. That the Chicago platform, therefore, takes a stand so diametrically opposite to the sense of the House Republicans leaders naturally caused surprise in Washington, D. C. The Crumpacker investigation resolution having been inserted in the Republican national platform, there is now nothing to expect from the next Congress, if not the next session of the present Congress, but a partisan investigation and an attempt to pass through Congress a bill reducing the South's representation.

CRUMPACKER WAS CONFIDENT.

Representative Crumpacker was confident from the adjournment of Congress that he would be able to get into the Republican platform an indorsement of his views. As the platform was written by Senator Lodge, under the direction of the President, it is, of course, certain that the President himself was a willing recipient of the suggestion of Representative Crumpacker. Democrats generally do not believe the negro plank will gain the Republican party any votes. The party already has solidly behind it the negro vote of the country. The conservative vote is more likely to be driven to the Democrats by a negro plank of the Crumpacker order. These days business men of the North are largely interested in Southern property, and with the Southern people are opposed to sectional legislation of the drastic sort contemplated by the Crumpacker plank. In Southern Indiana, Illinois and Ohio, where there is a large negro population, the effect of the plank is really beneficial to the Democratic party, as it undoubtedly raises a race issue. A special from Chicago to a Republican paper says, in reference to the plank:

MEANS AN INVESTIGATION.

"This declaration, it is confidently believed, will be followed by a thorough investigation by Congress. That investigation may not be begun next winter, because then the short session would give little time for concluding any legislation. It is more likely to be proposed and commenced early in the Fifty-ninth session.

"The plank is especially acceptable to the colored men of the South, who have waged a warfare on the Lily Whites of the South. Their defeat of the Lily White movement in Louisiana has encouraged them to carry their opposition into all other States wherein the future delegates to the convention are elected after any ignoring of the colored element in the party. 'The adoption of the suffrage plank in the convention, which is assured from the action of the committee, still further encourages the colored men here with the idea that the day is not far distant when they will be able to vote all over the South and to have their votes counted.

"The positive stamp of disapproval placed on methods of disfranchising colored men of the South has done much to encourage Republican politicians from that section of the country who will return home feeling that their party is back of them in their fight for the right of suffrage."

"we."

The Republican platform, prepared so carefully in Washington and guarded so solicitously in Chicago, is the narrowest of partisan bigotry. Unalloyed phariseism would be mild characterization of it. The darkest of the Dark Ages would have been the only logical period for its evolution.

It arrogates to the Republican party all intelligence and patriotism, and claims for Republican performance all well-being and well-doing. All its opponents are bad; everything they did was bad. It alone embraces the righteous; it alone has done the work of man—planted and reaped, manufactured and marketed, fought our battles, built our ships, supplied our soldlers, saved, salted and sanctified the earth. "We" have done this, "we" have done that; "we" have done everything that was worth doing; "we" have done nothing that should not have been done. In short, "we" are "it."

It is such stuff as this that makes partisan politics ridiculous and sickens intelligent men with partisan pretensions.

"We" found the country in "evil plight;" "public credit had been lowered" and "the standard of values was threatened;" but we are careful to say nothing of the fact that this was the result of a monetary law which "we" ourselves had passed. "We" worked miracles with "a consistent protective tariff," discussed further on this page. "We refused to palter longer with the miseries of Cuba," because the Democrats hurried us to arms. "We fought a quick and victorious war with Spain." "We set Cuba free," and so on, and so on, we, we, we! Among the other things that "we" have done was to eulch Colombia out of the canal route, and in the same platform "we" sing our praises for our invariable "due regard to international obligations!"

Other things that we do in our platform is to agglie to straddle those bucking broncos, Trust and Bust; to glory in our "honest and efficient" administration of the various de-

"We" favor ship subsidies, though we were afraid to legislate them into existence.

"We" are for the civil service law, you bet, as long as we have the champion civil service law smasher to administer it.

"We" are willing to pay a sounding tribute to "the great statesman and patriotic American, William McKinley," but we have not a word to say about his cherished policy of reciprocity which he bequeathed to us with his dying lips, and which we have buried in his grave.

"We" are for a lot to say about what we did for the gold standard and about "the pledges which the Republican party has fulfilled," but we beg to skip the pledge we made four years ago in favor of reciprocity and our pledge then made to provide a sufficient and flexible currency.

Finally, "we" are fortunate in finding such a successor to McKinley as Roosevelt, and in being able to put on such a good face the while rounded up in his bull-pen.

Capitol Commission Goes To Mississippi.

The State Capitol Commission last week went to Jackson, Miss., where the new Capitol of that state was inspected, preparatory to letting the contracts for Kentucky's new official home. Men and Conventions Bought.

Mr. Bryan, in his Cooper Union speech opposing the nomination of Judge Parker, said that the Judge's friends had "openly bought men and conventions, and any man who countenanced that work does not deserve the office of President."

This is a new charge to be brought against Parker. But while Mr. Bryan was denouncing those who buy men and conventions how was it that, though mentioning the name of Hearst in another connection, he had no word of condemnation for that candidate?—Courier Journal.

PROHIBITION PARTY IN CONVENTION.

The National Prohibition Convention assemblies in Indianapolis this morning at 10 o'clock and continues two days. Persons in position to know say that it will be the largest and most enthusiastic convention ever held by the advocates of temperance. The conviction is growing that neither the Democratic or Republican party is willing to espouse the temperance movement as a national issue; that they are afraid to do so. We know that there are many men who are tired of the domination of the whiskey element in politics, tired of being represented in county, State and National offices by men who are drunkards, patrons of saloons or their sympathizers. We are disposed to give a word of admonition, or warning if you prefer.

AN ADMONITION.

If Democratic leaders wish the respect, good wishes and support of a large class of men who have convictions on what is called the temperance movement, they must see to it that sober, temperate men are put forward for office.

An Advocate representative is attending this convention at Indianapolis to see the trend of things, the character of the men at the head, their organization, etc.

WHAT IS WANTED.

The Lexington Leader, through its local correspondent, W. H. Wood, predicts a warm time among Montgomery county Democrats. We mark the correspondent's prediction with interest and hope it will be so warm that the best element of the party will be aroused, that they will go to the polls and fearlessly discharge their duty. Only an "enroussment" will make the people pick the very best men for preferment. We have too much in the party and want it said when the nominees have been named, we have put out a model ticket. Candidates should examine themselves and note what kind of stuff they are made of, whether they are worthy of toleration and competent to fill the places asked for. If they should conclude they are not then by stepping aside they would be saved of much embarrassment, for we believe the time has come when the Democratic party will put up men that the most conscientious may support gladly, and if they do not get in the race of their own accord the people will demand it.

SOBER MEN.

Local politics is warming up and ere soon the pot will be boiling. You whiskey drinkers need not apply for only the sober, industrious men of the party are going to be named this year. It will be this way in the largest and less remunerative positions, temperate men.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND?

For fear the candidates who are offering for office, and who may hereafter do so, have not fully understood us, we want to repeat what we said last week: We will not support any man for the Democratic nomination who is given to whiskey drinking and drunkenness. Montgomery county pays salaries sufficiently large to secure the services of our best men and such the honest Democracy demand from the party. A drunkard, totally or partially, is unfitted for his own business much less the county's, and hence only the very best men need expect either our votes or influence.

W. P. Walton, editor of the Democrat published at Lexington, is accused of abusing his privileges as purchasing agent for the House of Reform, because he purchases from Democrats, and such Democrats in turn patronize the Democrat. We see nothing wrong in such official conduct so long as Mr. Walton gives the State as good bargains as can be secured elsewhere. The accusation comes from an "out" against and "in" and appears to be based on selfishness.

MUST GO.

There is no place for the drunkard. Railroad companies do not want a drinking man, the Navy does not want him, the Army does not want him, the manufacturer does not want him; and he is not fit for a place in the church. Why then does not the church rise up in her glory and dignity and say the liquor curse must go?

FUN TO BEGIN.

Judge H. Clay McKee is closing old subscriptions and taking new ones, embodying them in notes, and so soon as this work is completed the fun of condemning lands to be used in road-beds etc. will begin.

TAIL WAGS IT.

In the personnel of the Republican National ticket it is a recurrence of the tail wagging the dog, but both the head and tail are wagged, the tail being more capable of the wagging.

NOTHING.

The Republican party have their candidates, and with such a double constructive platform as they have adopted, with one string they draw on the voter and the other the boodler.

Mr. Clarence J. Nugent, Jr., has accepted a position with a strong Louisville firm and will leave with his family for that city and enter on duty July 15. We regret to lose so valuable an acquisition as Mr. Nugent and family. He is popular, competent and worthy, and this firm has not made a mistake in securing his services.

Interest in the coming Prohibition National convention to be held at Indianapolis, June 29 and 30, is intense. A large number of Prohibitionists from all parts of the county will be in attendance. It will be one of the noted events in the history of Indianapolis.

PREVENTION OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Circular Issued by the State Board of Health of Kentucky.

To the Health Officials, Physicians and People of Kentucky.

This Board again feels it to be a duty to call the earnest attention of our health authorities and people to the increasing prevalence and mortality from typhoid fever and to the consequent growing importance of the constant use of the methods endorsed and confirmed by scientific research and observation for the prevention of the disease. 13,305 cases of this disease and 1,679 deaths were reported in Kentucky last year, chiefly confined to people in the prime of life and usefulness. The cost of caring for those sick of it, to say nothing of the sorrow, suffering and loss of life, for the year, is reported as being $963,750.

Typhoid fever is probably the most preventable of all diseases, not even excepting smallpox. It is now definitely known that, like cholera and dysentery, the germs of the disease are contained only in the discharges from the bowels and kidneys of those sick of it, and that it is necessary for a person to swallow some of such discharges, or things polluted by them, in some way, in order to contract the disease. They usually gain entrance to the system through infected water from wells or streams draining inhabited areas, and polluted by infected fecal matter, or such matter may be carried by flies and deposited on the food, utensils and hands in unscrupulous kitchens and dining rooms. The germs may also be carried on the hands of careless attendants, or on soiled clothing, or indirectly, by using milk or other articles of uncooked food or drink from cans and vessels washed in infected water. Ice from infected water is also dangerous, as it has been proven that freezing does not kill the germs. A large volume of water may be infected from one case, and, if already polluted with organic matter, become a ready culture fluid for the multiplication of the germs. In the now noted epidemic at Plymouth, Pennsylvania, involving the sickness of 1,104 persons, and the death of 114, the outbreak was traced to the use of water from a stream infected by the discharges from one imported case. The recent disastrous epidemic at Ithaca, New York, causing many deaths, and requiring the suspension of Cornell University, was traced to the use of a public water supply similarly infected.

On the other hand, in the distressing and fatal epidemic which clung to our military camps at Chickamauga, Camp Mead, Montauk Point, and other places, during the Spanish-American war, flies were found to be the principal carriers of the disease by the United States Commission appointed to investigate the origin of the outbreaks. By the use of white powder sprinkled over the discharges in the latrines, thousands of these pests were tracked direct from these and found covering the food, hands and utensils in the kitchens and mess rooms of the common soldiers. Cultures taken from the feet, legs, bills and intestines of these flies showed the germs of typhoid fever in countless numbers. The kitchens and mess rooms of the officers were screened, and they almost universally escaped the disease. Other facts no less convincing as to both water and flies being carriers of this disease might be multiplied indefinitely, if space permitted. In a smaller way, they must be common in the experience of most physicians in active practice.

Based upon the teachings of the foregoing facts, the following rules have been prepared with care for the guidance of all persons interested in their own and the public health:

1. When it is known or suspected that a person has typhoid fever, he should be placed in a large, well ventilated room, with the windows and doors well screened, and such preparation should be made from the first day for the thorough and systematic disinfection of all discharges from the bowels and kidneys as will protect other members of the family, the attendants, and the community.
2. A solution of chloride of lime, eight ounces to the gallon of water, should be provided in quantity, and a quart of this should be put in the bed-pail or vessel each time before it receives the discharges, and should be well stirred and allowed to stand in the vessel at least an hour before it is buried. An equivalent solution of creolin, or a thick white-wash made from the fresh quicklime, may be used in the same way when the chloride of lime can not be obtained, but with these at least two hours will be required to complete the disinfection.
3. Soiled bed or body linen should remain in the chloride of lime solution for an hour, and may then be safely put in the family wash. Soiled paper or clothes used about the patient should be immediately burned. Attendants should wash the hands frequently, and the lips, and rinse the mouth always before eating. No one should partake of any food which has stood in the sick room. All of these precautions should be continued until the recovery is complete and until all diarrhea has ceased.
4. Typhoid fever is not contagious in the sense commonly understood, and if the precautions above indicated are faithfully and intelligently carried out, a case may be treated in any family or community with perfect safety. If others have the disease, it will be because they were infected from the same source as the patient, or contracted it elsewhere. The same precautions should be observed in dysentery and all other diarrheal diseases, including summer complaint in children.

5. All well water and unfiltered water from rivers draining inhabited areas, where typhoid fever and diarrheal diseases are likely to occur at any time, and milk stored in cans or vessels washed in such water, should be looked upon as suspicious, and should always be boiled before it is drunk by any one not immune from typhoid fever. In the absence of a reliable, filtered, public water supply, carefully collected and properly stored, cistern water is safest.

6. The windows and doors of all dwelling houses, and especially of the kitchen and dining room, should always be well screened, and the flies actually kept out. Unless this is done, a carelessly managed case of typhoid fever, or other diarrheal disease even a mile or more away, may be a source of danger on account of flies. Mosquitoes are now known to be the carriers of malaria, the same precautions will protect from this poison also.

The universal and effectual practice of these precautions would require intelligent care and some expense, but would result in the practical disappearance of one of our most common and fatal domestic pestilences, which is not only a disgrace to our civilization, but an annual scourge and tax upon the people of Kentucky in comparison with which yellow fever and cholera, plague and other exotic diseases so feared by our people sink into insignificance.

Copies of this circular, and of outlines in regard to the prevention of consumption, diphtheria and scarlet fever, may be had by any one for free distribution upon application to the Board at Bowling Green.

By order of the Board.

CURIOUS ECHOES.

One Place Where a Pistol Report Is Repeated Sixty Times.

The suspension bridge across the Menai straits, in Wales, produces one of the most remarkable echoes in the world, says Stray Stories. The sound of a blow with a hammer on one of the main piers is returned in succession from each of the crossbeams which support the roadway, and from the opposite pier at the distance of 576 feet, in addition to which the sound is many times repeated between the water and roadway at the rate of 28 times in five seconds.

An equally remarkable echo is that of the castle of Simonetta, about two miles from Milan. The report of a pistol is repeated by this echo 60 times.

A singular echo is also heard in a grotto near Castle Comber, in Ireland.

In the garden of the Tuileries, in Paris, is an artificial echo, which repeats a whole verse without the loss of a single syllable.

Another wonderful echo is heard outside the Shipley church, in Sussex, which echoes some 20 syllables in the most perfect manner.

The well-known echo at Woodstock repeats itself no fewer than 50 times. In one part of the Pantheon so great is the echo that the striking together of the palms of the hands is said to make a report equal to that of a 12-pound cannon.

CURIOUS SENSES OF REPTILES

Surprising Power to Divine the Presence of Far Distant Water.

Prof. Werner, of Vienna, a naturalist of note, has reported the results of observations he has been making for some time on the senses of the inferior vertebrates and he has reached some curious and surprising conclusions.

The professor took all possible precautions not to let the creatures know what they were watched. (One general fact is very evident, that reptiles and amphibians are strongly attracted by water. They go straight to it, and even when they are at a distance so great that they could not divine its presence by any of the senses known to us. It seems really that a sense of which we have no knowledge informs them of the direction in which water may be found. There seems to be a sort of chemical attraction, says Mr. Werner. But how does this act, and on what part of the creature? This remains a mystery. Reptiles also seek the light, but independently of heat. They often leave comfortable and warm retreats to seek the sunlight. Night is generally good with them. It is probably the finest sense that they possess, but it would still appear to be very limited. The crocodiles and the crocodiles cannot distinguish a man at a distance of more than six times their length, according to Werner. In the water fishes see only at very close range—about half their own length. This will seem perhaps unlikely to anglers, although some of them can cite instances showing that fish cannot see far. Snakes seem to have a very moderate sense of sight. The boa, for example, does not see more than a quarter or a third of its own length. Different species are limited to one-fifth or one-eighth of their length. Frogs are better off. They see at 15 or 20 times their length. Frog catches know this from experience. Hearing is also poorer than sight, if possible. Most reptiles are noticeably deaf, except the caymans and crocodiles. The boa appears to be absolutely so.

THEY MANUFACTURE DOLLS.

Work Is Given Poverty-Stricken Peasants of Ireland.

In various parts of Ireland there are at the present moment many undertakings which, never would have been entered upon but for American money. The latest is a doll factory situated at a place called Stewartstown, close to the banks of the Lough Neagh—the largest lake in Great Britain and Ireland. The establishment of this factory is due directly to the enterprise of Mrs. Frances Riddell, who, when a simple peasant girl, emigrated to America 30 years ago. She made money by investment in real estate in the neighborhood of Chicago, and has now returned to do something toward alleviating the distress of her native country. With the assistance of another American—Mr. F. T. Wall, of Cincinnati—she has founded what is known as the Co-operative Home Industry society, and the manufacture of dolls is the first item in the programme. Already a good start has been made, and as many as 60 girls are finding constant employment. The capital required was not much—something like $5,000—because all the materials required can be found in the immediate locality. Irish products alone, both in the model and the dressing, are to be used. It is not intended to produce the stage Irishman or woman, but to give an accurate representation of the native in a faithful manner. Mrs. Riddell is at present confining her efforts to cultivating trade in the British Isles, but she has hopes that in time she will be able to do a big business with the United States. The furnishing of dolls' houses will occupy her attention later on.

ANOTHER DEPARTMENT

Added to the Kentucky Farmer and Breeder—J. P. Hillenmeyer Will Answer All Inquiries Addressed to Paper Concerning the Laws, the Orchard and the Garden.

The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder, the weekly farm and stock paper established at Lexington the first of the year, which has broken all circulation records by obtaining a paid in advance circulation of 12,500 within three and one-half months of its establishment, has just added another department of interest and value to its subscribers. It has indeed Mr. Hector P. Hillenmeyer, the leading horticultural expert not only of Kentucky, but of the Central States, to take charge of a department of correspondence in which all inquiries pertaining to fruit and forest trees, to vines and agricultural produce will be answered. Any inquiries on any of these subjects addressed to The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder will be answered by Mr. Hillenmeyer in the succeeding issue.

To wide and varied experience Mr. Hillenmeyer adds accurate and scientific information with the power of clear expression in perfect English. His services could not be obtained by any paper save through his desire to give together the benefit of his knowledge and experience, and he has consented to conduct this department for the subscribers of The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder purely as a labor of love. The paper and the wide circle of people who read it are to be congratulated upon the establishment of this department under Mr. Hillenmeyer's able direction.

Restored To Her Foster Parents

Was Maude Clarke.

Amid a silence almost painful in a crowded courthouse, Judge Turpin decided that Maude Clarke, a pretty four-year-old girl, should be restored to her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clarke, of Gardard county.

The story of the child's career is a pathetic one, indeed. Twelve years ago little Maude Pittman was left alone in a briar patch by her mother. The cries of the child attracted Solomon Taylor, who found it in a starved and pitiable condition. The child was kept in the Taylor family for five years when, Mr. Taylor grew ill and could no longer care for it. Mr. Taylor then started out to find a new home for Maude. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clarke, near Berea, agreed to take the child and rear it. The child was adopted, and for seven years has lived happily at the Clarke home.

About a week ago Humphrey Pittman, the real father of the girl, in company with two men, went to the Clarke home and by threats secured the child and brought her to Richmond. She remained here, and proceedings for her return were instituted by Mr. Clarke. When the decision was rendered Maude broke into tears so overjoyed was she. Pittman will be tried for kidnapping.

Some of the other symptoms of Heart Trouble are: Pains in the Side, Back and Shoulder; Fainting or Weak Spells; Dry Cough; Swelling of Feet and Ankles; Cold Feet or Hands. Missouri Farmer Who Owns 22,000 Acres.

Missouri has the distinction of having within her borders as a citizen the most extensive individual farmer in the United States, if not in the world. He is David Rankin, of Tarkio, owner of fourteen ranches, and more than 22,000 acres of as fine black soil as the sun ever shone on.

Mr. Rankin is the largest stock feeder in the world. He buys more corn than any other farmer in the United States, and most of it is fed to stock on his farm. Besides the extensive farming operations Mr. Rankin is interested in many other enterprises. Each day he rides over his farms and gives orders to his foremen. It takes about 700 teams and 220 men to do his work during the busy months. The final statements of 1903 showed that a total of 7,539 head of cattle had been sold. They brought $172,590. The number of hogs sold was 8,249, for which $111,545.14 was recovered.

To a question of how he made his start he said:

"When I was married I was so poor my wife and I could not even buy a bread board. We managed and saved what we could. Prosperity has smiled on us. Having worked hard a good portion of my life I have also given where others would have spent money."

W. S. Lloyd's Success.

W. S. Lloyd, the enterprising druggist, rather than await the ordinary methods of introduction, urged the Dr. Howard Co. to secure a quick sale for their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by offering the regular 50c bottle at half-price.

The wonderful success of this plan was a great surprise even to W. S. Lloyd and today there are scores of people here in Mt. Sterling who are using and praising this remarkable remedy.

So much talk has been caused by this offer, and so many new friends have been made for the specific, that the Dr. Howard Co. have authorized druggist, W. S. Lloyd, to continue this special half-price sale for a limited time longer.

KNOWS MI-O-NA WILL CURE

W. S. Lloyd Has Such Faith in This Great Dyspepsia Remedy That He Guarantees It

It is an unusual thing for a druggist to sell a medicine under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. Yet this is the way W. S. Lloyd, the popular druggist is selling Mi-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy.

There is no longer any need of anyone suffering or making their friends suffer on account of dyspepsia, for Mi-o-na can be relied upon to cure. The percentage of cures is so nearly one hundred percent that there is little risk to W. S. Lloyd in guaranteeing to refund the money if the medicine does not cure, and he stands ready to do so without any questions.

Headaches, all forms of indigestion, specks before the eyes, dizzy feelings, poor sleep, ringing in the ears and all forms of liver trouble are cured by Mi-o-na, prices 50c. A few days' treatment shows considerable gain in health and a cure speedily follows. [46-48 50.]

Offensive Poster Destroyed.

At Shelbyville, Ky., last week fifteen bill boards containing big posters advertising a negro fraternal picnic to be held on July 4 were torn down and removed to parts unknown. It is presumed that the reason was the wording of the posters, which made it appear that the negro was the social equal of the white man. Much indignation was expressed when the posters first appeared and their destruction was not a surprise.

Dr. Lorenz's Means to An End.

Dr. Lorenz, the noted European surgeon, whose operations made him famous and popular in this country was discussing with a number of practitioners unusual methods in securing results.

"Seize upon people's weakness," said the doctor. "Some years ago a young lady came to me, desiring treatment. She was pale, worn and emaciated. I advised exercise and physical culture, but she protested, saying that she was too weak to exert herself.

"In course of a week the lady's father visited me. From him I learned that his daughter was romantic, superstitious; mindful of suggestions contained in mystic lore.

"When the lady again called, I expressed despair, saying that in all my practice I had encountered only one case just like hers. I intimated that I had too much regard for her intelligence to suggest the remedy. Of course she wanted to know.

"Then I told her of the existence of a certain spring on top of one of the rugged hills beyond the city. That on warm mornings this spring reflected its purity upon the face of him or her who knelt to drink of its waters. If the visits were made regularly, this reflected beauty would in time adhere, permanently to the believer's features.

"Two months later the father admitted the restoration of his daughter's health and beauty. He wished to know candidly, if I placed any faith in the waters of the spring. I answered:

"No, I do not, but I do place faith in the exercise which takes her there and back again."

WORTH A THOUGHT.

This Statement Will Interest Scores of Mt. Sterling Readers.

The facts given below are worth a perusal by all who are anxious about their physical condition or are similarly situated to this resident of Frankfort. It is a local occurrence and can be thoroughly investigated.

W. T. Reading, dry goods dealer of 315 Broadway, and residing at 225 Elk Place, says: "I have the greatest faith in Doan's Kidney Pills for my experience taught me that they are true to their representations. For months I was plagued with backache, not sharp pains but a dull aching all the time. I first noticed it over my hips, then by degrees it worked across the small of my back, the pain being so constant that I became so lame and sore that if I stooped or sat for while I could hardly straighten. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and especially recommended for my trouble, I got a box. After using them a few days I noticed a marked improvement in my condition and in a short time I was cured. I will corroborate this statement at any time in a personal interview or in reply to any communication mailed to me."

Kentucky Delegates Called On Gov. Durbin In Body.

It was their intention to show their appreciation of the party loyalty of Gov. Durbin, of Indiana, in refusing to honor the requisition of Gov. Beckham for William S. Taylor, the members of the Kentucky delegation called at the Indiana headquarters in a body to pay their respects. No mention of Taylor's name was made at the delegation's meeting, nor was the object of the call discussed, but it is nevertheless understood by both the Kentuckians and their neighbors across the river that Gov. Durbin's attitude is the real cause of this compliment paid.

Both John W. Yerkes and former Gov. W. O. Bradley made brief speeches, and while neither said in so many words that the Kentucky Republicans feel grateful to Gov. Durbin for his action, the visit was simply a demonstration for the purpose of stiffening the backbone of Mr. Hanley, the Republican nominee for Governor of Indiana, should he be so fortunate as to be elected. The members of the delegation, speaking for publication, deny in the strongest terms that such was the object of the visit, but one of the members who is unwilling to be quoted said that the visit was made for no other purpose. The Kentucky Republicans do not want Taylor back in Kentucky to face trial or for any other purpose.

WHAT THE REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATIVES DID.

Bradley, Yerkes, Combs and Willson allowed the honor to be conferred on others with cheek and audacity, to congratulate an Indiana Twentieth Century Governor, who is protecting a refugee under indictment for murder. This is it.

DELEGATION VISITS DURBIN.

Owing to a change of arrangements made necessary by the early meeting of the convention, all of the Kentuckians were not on hand at the Palmer House headquarters at 9:30 o'clock, the hour set for calling on Gov. Durbin. Among the absentees were Mr. Bradley and Mr. Yerkes. Mr. Combs had left for Kentucky and Mr. Willson had been called to New York. As suggested by Mr. Combs, John W.

Lewis was elected chairman of the delegation, and arm in arm with Geo. W. Long led the march to the Annex. About forty men were in the party. At the Indiana headquarters the Kentuckians were met by Senator Fairbanks and Gov. Durbin, who shook hands with the delegates as they came in and were introduced by Sam Roberts. Mr. Lewis made a brief speech informing Mr. Fairbanks that the delegation would cast its unanimous vote for him for Vice President and after a word of thanks for the Senator, Mr. Roberts turned to Gov. Durbin and said: "And Kentucky feels thankful to Indiana for more things than giving us a candidate for Vice President. Old Gov. Morton used to say during the war that he was Governor of Indiana and Kentucky, too, and that is the way we feel about you."

GOV. DURBIN'S REPLY.

Gov. Durbin replied by saying: "Any law abiding, peaceful and liberty loving Kentuckian can come to Indiana and be assured that he will be welcomed."

The delegates then crowded around Gov. Durbin and thanked him again, each one mentioning the Taylor incident in some manner without speaking directly. Judge J. G. Foster, of the Eleventh district, told Gov. Durbin that he came from the mountains where "the bad men come from," and spoke of the gratitude to Gov. Durbin felt by the mountaineers. The Kentuckians spent half an hour in the Indiana headquarters and then started for the convention hall.

MRS. CECELIA STOWE, Orator, Entre Nous Club.

170 Warren Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22, 1902. For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disinclined as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a discommodate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

FAREWELL ADDRESS.

Judge M. M. Cassidy, always mindful of the best interests of his associates, and believing his earth career is near its close, has caused the following letter to be written and sent to former employees and friends of Strait Creek Coal Co. It shows the spirit of the man who has long lived in our midst and whose life example has been for the betterment of humanity:

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 20, 1904.

To the Former Employees and Friends of Strait Creek Coal Co.:

From his dying bed Judge Cassidy sends greeting, good wishes and farewell to the men who have joined their labors with his in operating Strait Creek Mines during the last 23 years. While his fortune is much less to-day after 23 years of anxious and perplexing labor than it was the day the first car of coal left Strait Creek, yet he rejoices that no man has ever waited a day for wages due; and he has paid out in wages at Denton more than Six Hundred Thousand Dollars. Some years when the Mines failed to pay running expenses, money was borrowed from bank at 8 per cent. to keep the work going.

Because no longer able to run at a loss, when the market price of coal fell seven cents a ton below what it had cost for two years to deliver it in the C. & O. cars, an order was issued to close down the mines until conditions improved. The continued illness of Judge Cassidy and the certainty that he would never be able again to stand on his feet or transact business on earth, and the growing difficulties of operating the Mines led to the determination to sell, or lease for a year or two at least. Contract for operating the Mines will be let at the earliest day possible for the mutual interests of Mines, and men who wish employment. It is hoped the new operators will be able to make terms with Col. Kent Prichard to assist them, for we have always found him efficient, just and honorable.

Judge Cassidy earnestly invokes the blessing of God upon you, your wives and your little ones, and hopes to meet you in that tearless Land of Rest prepared by the Redeemer for all who fight well in life's hard battles.

"To be the man who faces what he must, who is triumphant, and a heart of cheer; who fights the daily battle without fear; who has the will, yet keeps unflinching, that when he is told that somehow, true and just, this place will be out for mortals."

FACTS AND OBSERVATIONS

IN POWELL COUNTY.

The writer went to Powell county on Tuesday morning of last week, spending the night at Bowen. Circuit Court was in session at Stanton.

Rains have been favorable for crops. Apples will be abundant with some peaches.

Owing to the great decline in price of railroad ties, there is a lull in that industry. We spent the night with A. T. Knox, a prosperous and prominent doctor. A remark by him led us to ask a question, the answer to which is embodied in the following: The doctor is over 40 years of age. He has twice been married, the second wife is living. Each wife's name is Alice, each moved to Kentucky when she was eight years old, each has borne him three children, the father of each wife is dead, the mothers are living and each is named Ann; the parents of each wife had nine children each (four boys and five girls); each wife has three brothers whose first names are the same, and each wife has two sisters with same name. One wife was born in North Carolina and the other in Virginia. One was the oldest of nine children, the other the youngest. Of the doctor's six children, three are living in heaven and three are living on earth.

There may be other similarities, coincidences but for the present we give these, which are very rare.

If any record supposing this in points of agreement exists we have not heard of it. Our columns are open for such report.

Little (?) Billy Bowen and family and Dr. Knox and family will accept our thanks for courtesies during our trip.

A great sorrow came to the home of S. C. Danks, a merchant of Bowen, while we were in town. On the preceding Friday their babe, aged about 3 years, was the light of the household. Sickness came, and at the end of the fourth day as the shades of evening gathered the light was transferred, and for the third time father and mother have new incentive to live for heaven, where their children are awaiting their coming. Blessed is the man or woman who by faith in the Christ can say all things work together for good to them who love God.

Kansas Wants Harvesters.
Kansas is calling for men to harvest its wheat. The State has a free employment bureau, which last year secured jobs for 11,000 applicants. The needs of the farmers for this year have been figured down with remarkable accuracy, judging from a bulletin just issued by the bureau, stating that 20,945 hands are wanted. The officials are now figuring out an appropriation for each county, and call for volunteers will be circulated throughout the country. The Kansas City Journal says: "The pay is good, food and accommodations are the best. Inexperienced hands are sure of $1.50 a day. Capable stackers can get $2.50, and food and lodging are free." The hours of labor required, according to report, reach from sunrise to sunset.—Rochester Democrat.

Killed By An Explosion.
Geo. Wilson, aged 22 years, was killed Tuesday of last week by an explosion of dynamite. He was putting up telephone poles near Paris. He had a charge of dynamite in one hand and an electric battery in the other.

Street Commissioner.
At a special meeting of the City Council on the evening of June 21 John Flarity was elected Street Commissioner, to succeed John Conway, deceased.

Stanley, son of Jao. R. Thomas, at Spencer, while raking hay on Friday was kicked by a horse. The hurt is not dangerous.

PROFITS OF FAMOUS SONG.

Only $50 for Composer of "Silver Threads Among the Gold."
The death of Hart Pease Danks at Philadelphia the other day recalls the history of his most popular song, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," says the New York Sun.

This song, according to an old friend of Danks, Tom Moore, was composed about 1870 and was published in 1873 by Charles H. Harris. It sprang into popularity at once, and had a sale of more than 100,000 copies.

Danks was often credited as having written the words as well as the music, but the real author of the words was Eben E. Rexford.

At first Danks was unable to procure a market for the song and in sheer disappointment thrust it into a bureau drawer. One day he came across the manuscript and submitted it to Harris, who realized its merits and published it.

Mr. Moore says that Danks received only $50 for it, dividing the money with Rexford. The song became popular in a night and was used by all the well-known minstrel troupes throughout the country. Harris made a fortune out of it.

It is said that Mrs. Rexford's mother inspired the song. She had luxurious golden hair as a girl, and as she grew older it became sprinkled with gray. Rexford wrote a number of other songs, but none of them ever attained the popularity that "Silver Threads Among the Gold" did. The song has been copyrighted again and is still selling.

On Tuesday, July 12, at the Somerset Christian Church will be held the annual Sunday School Convention of Montgomery county. A very interesting program has been arranged and can be found in another column of this issue.

Is a drunkard eligible to church membership? Not as a drunkard, but as a sinner who repents of his sin and forsakes it, he should be received on the confession of his faith and his baptism. If the question means, "Should a drunkard be retained in the membership of the church?" we would say no, unless he forsakes his wrong-doing. But a man might be overtaken and get drunk occasionally and not be a drunkard. A drunkard is one who habitually yields to the temptation of strong drink.

Beginning with Sunday, July 3, the churches of Mt. Sterling will follow the usual custom of holding Union Services, and the following programme has been adopted for the month:

July 3.—Methodist Church—Rev. H. D. Clarke.

Musical Entertainment.

The recital of Mrs. Ada Jephson music class was one of Mt. Sterling's musical treats and would have compared favorably with professional. The pupils were perfect in time and graceful in touch and their acquaintance with the instrument was demonstrated by the volume of music produced. Voices showed much training and great natural powers. Mrs. O. O. P. Hughton who had been under training in Chicago, sang sweetly, "Just A-Wearyin' for You," and three other pieces which were rendered beautifully.

MONTH'S TRIAL FREE

Breathe Hyomei Three or Four Times Daily and be Cured of Catarrh.

W. S. Lloyd, one of the most reliable business firms in Mt. Sterling, has seen many instances of the remarkable power of Hyomei to cure catarrhal troubles and other disorders of the respiratory organs.

Results in this treatment have given him so much confidence in Hyomei that he will give a month's trial with the positive understanding that if at the end of that time a cure is not effected or enough relief gained to warrant a continued use of the treatment for a while longer, the money will be refunded.

Hyomei is the only treatment for catarrh that has ever been sold under a "no cure, no pay" plan, and the only one where a month's trial treatment is free unless it cures.

Hyomei is not a pill or liquid. Just breathe it through the nasal inhaler that comes with every outfit and benefit will be seen from the first day's use. Breathe in this way, the health giving Hyomei penetrates to the minutest air cells of the lungs, and drives catarrhal germs and poisons from the system.

The complete outfit costs but $1, and extra bottles of Hyomei may be obtained for 50c.

Remember that if Hyomei does not cure you after a month's trial, W. S. Lloyd, will refund your money and the treatment will be absolutely free. [46-48-50]

Great is Electricity.

A new Transatlantic liner is equipped with an electrical device for preventing collisions. The moment another vessel enters the "magnetic field" of the vessel indicating the need of the intervening points to the approaching lines. Even the rhythmic beats of an unseen steamer's screws are registered by this delicate apparatus. An electric log for ascertaining the speed of the ship is another acquisition. Still another device is an electrical appliance for registering all signals, including steam sirens. Electric refrigerating as well as electrical cooking apparatus are still further additions.

Burned to Death.

The dwelling occupied by Nathan Schoerer was burned last Tuesday night. Mrs. Schoerer was badly burned before she could be taken from the building and died in a few hours. The stock barn near by was also burned. The property loss was about $2,000, with no insurance.

WAVE OF DARK TRESSES.

Happy, these days, is the woman with a luxuriant head of hair, for not in many years has the fashionable coiffure been so elaborate, says the New York Sun.

On the other hand, unluckily is she of the scanty locks, inasmuch as it may cost from $75 to $100 to supply the deficiency. It happens that just at the very time when false hair is urgently in demand it has become remarkably scarce, and therefore remarkably dear. This is especially true of the curly or wavy kind, which alone is wanted for the newer coiffures.

It is quite impossible, it seems, for even the most noted hairdressers to predict precisely what the leading coiffure for the winter will be, for the reason that there is bound to be always more than one style to the front and also because the New York fashionable woman is capricious and to some extent a law unto herself. As a leading New York hairdresser remarked, with a resigned air:

"In France the hairdressers make the styles, and even the smartest women conform to them, whereas in New York the hairdressers arrange coiffures at the dictators of their customers."

"Of course," he admitted, "every winter is sure to bring some new feature, for instance, like the up-hoisted pompadour, as we called it, which had an astounding vogue in all circles, from the kitchen to the drawing-room inclusive, and the pronounced loop-over-one-eye arrangement that came later and took well, though it made even a refined woman look almost like a tough."

"As it happens both of these styles have been pushed into the background by a newer, prettier, more becoming modification of the pompadour, which is fluffy, soft and mounted not over a stiff, hard roll, but on an airy, fairy support, stiffer, but hardly heavier, than a network of natural hair."

"And this is not pulled down over the brow, but rolls back naturally, except for a stray lock or two which are permitted to curl downward if the forehead is very high. The very newest of these pompadours is parted on one side—style that gives a remarkably chic look to some women. Other women, though, would better let it alone."

Just now the most up-to-date New York coiffure is really a combination of a compromise between the low English and the high French coiffure, both of which this year are distinguished by an air of stiffness and a lot more hair than usual. Some Americans like the French modis, others favor the French, many try to combine the two by using several switches or crimping the hair to make it appear twice as thick as it really is.

Just now young girls affect the low twisted coiffure, and some of them just back from a trip abroad are wearing the English bun—round wad of hair built over a cushion of some sort which completely covers the nape of the neck, but without a net over it.

Naturally the French hairdressers here would admit for an instant that the bun is likely to become fashionable, for, say they, it is becoming to only very young women. Few women over 25, they add, look well in a low coiffure, anyway.

Other hairdressers, not French, get over this difficulty by explaining that there will be no unbending gap between the bun and the front hair, but that the two will be connected by soft puffs and oblong jeweled clips. Moreover, they predict that the bun coiffure will be much in evidence at the opera this winter because of its elaboration.

But bun or no bun, it seems to be pretty generally settled that an elongated coiffure covering the back of the head almost from ear to ear and down to the neck will take the place even for evening wear, of the natty, high model which for many years has been especially in evidence for full dress occasions. Even the more conservative of the French hairdressers are now in New York admit this, at the same time declaring that a moderately high coiffure may be adopted without putting oneself in the ranks of the old fashioned.

WEALTH THROWN AWAY.

In Waste Baskets of Chicago Great Fortunes Are Concealed. "In the waste baskets in Chicago," said a business man the other day, according to the Chicago Tribune, "there is wealth enough to make any one man independently rich for life."

"Come again," said the doubting friend.

"Rich for life," went on the other. "You don't see how? Of course you don't. I do."

"Did you ever consider the thousands and thousands of waste baskets that are emptied by the janitors in offices every night? Well, suppose you could get all that paper. Your income every day would be in the hundreds of dollars. That is, if you simply sold the paper to pulp mills."

"But suppose you could add to that tidy income by possessing yourself of the stamps that are dropped into the waste basket by mistake? There would be another fine item in your income."

"Suppose, then, if your conventional mind will permit you to stray so far afield, that a man could buy all the business secrets that he could find lying in waste baskets. He would have, I assure you, such a lever that he could pry solid gold into his bank account."

"Why, man, there is more money going to waste in the waste baskets in this town every day than many men make in a long life of hard work. I wish I could buy the privilege of taking all the stuff. That's all."

Many Streets Oiled.

Lexington has completed the oiling of sixty-six blocks of the city streets, and the innovation has proved such a success that contracts will be let for the remaining four miles to be oiled in the same way, so as to complete the circuit of the entire city. When the remaining streets are oiled there will be absolutely no dust in the city, and Lexington will have the distinction of being the first city in the United States to be free from dust by such a process.

Was Wasting Away.

The following letter from Robt. R. Watts, of Salem, Mo., is instructive. "I have been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years. I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." For sale by W. S. Lloyd.
